

Martin Weinel - Cardiff University

Fatal Attraction: Fringe science and HIV/AIDS policy-making in South Africa

The presentation argues that recognising fringe science and fringe scientists is an important task for STS scholars. The argument is illustrated by describing the influence that fringe 'scientists' had on HIV/AIDS policy-making processes in South Africa between 1999 and 2005 and discussing its consequences.